

invites you to a panel presentation

"Nuyoricans on the Move: New Research"

A three-part panel featuring new research on Puerto Rican socio-demographics in New York and the Northeast.

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

Faculty Dining Room - West Building 8th Floor
Hunter College - 68th Street and Lexington Avenue
6:30 - 8:00 pm

Welcoming Remarks & Moderator

Dr. Carlos Vargas-Ramos, Centro Researcher, Hunter College, CUNY

Panelists

Dr. Gilbert Marzán, Professor of Sociology, Bronx Community College, CUNY
"Puerto Rican Settlement in Small Northeastern Towns", examines the causes of Puerto Rican migration to Allentown, Penn., New Haven, Connecticut and Springfield, Massachusetts.

Dr. Andrés Torres, Centro de Estudios Puertorriqueños, Hunter College, CUNY
"Where have all the Nuyoricans Gone?" There has been much attention lately to Puerto Ricans leaving for Puerto Rico and Florida. But the largest single group is actually going somewhere else.

Judith Perez, Ph.D. candidate in sociology at Fordham University
"Residential Options of Middle-Class Puerto Ricans"

A work-in-progress looking at how New York-born Puerto Ricans and other Caribbean Latinos determine their residential and home ownership options.