

UNIVERSITY of
ROCHESTER

Graduate School Visitation Program

Arts, Sciences and Engineering and the School of Medicine and Dentistry at the University of Rochester will be hosting a two-day graduate school visitation program targeted towards undergraduate students (Seniors, class of 2015) who are low-income, first-generation college, or members of underrepresented minority groups, and who have expressed an interest in graduate training in the fields in which the University of Rochester offers a Ph.D.

Selected participants will have an opportunity to meet with faculty members in their field of interest, network with current graduate students, and learn about the University of Rochester. All participants will be provided with round trip travel, all meals, and will be housed with a fellow program participant. Applications will only be accepted from students interested in our Ph.D. programs.
