

Summer Equity Internships

Thinking about graduate school?

Interested in biomedical sciences, nursing, medicine, physician assistant, or dentistry?

Spend eight weeks in Portland at Oregon Health & Science University, working with faculty, scientists and graduate students as part of the OHSU Summer Equity Biomedical Sciences, Dental, Nursing, Medicine and Physician Assistant Internship Program.

- Hands-on experience in a research or clinical setting
- Opportunities for clinical shadowing and observation
- Weekly seminars and meetings with fellow interns and faculty to discuss ongoing research
- Personal mentoring about your individual career path
- A poster presentation of your research project

Emphasis on Mentorship

We strive to match interns and mentors based on research and clinical interests. During the internship, interns work full-time with their mentors in an OHSU laboratory and/or clinical setting.

Who Should Apply

The paid internship program seeks students from diverse, under-served, under-represented, economically and socially disadvantaged backgrounds. Applicants must have completed at least one full year of college coursework. Selected interns who live outside the Portland-metro area will receive a housing stipend while participating in the program.
