HUNTER SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH STUDENT RESEARCH STUDY: What are the factors which shape our attitudes and behavior regarding sexual pleasure, reproduction, and contraception? This project attempts to answer this question and hopefully inform future public health research. Results from this research study will be presented at Hunter College and the Bureau of Maternal, Infant and Reproductive Health of the NYC health department.

ELIGIBILITY: If you are a female-assigned-at-birth student who has been sexually active with male-assigned-at-birth (FSM) over the past six months, then YOU ARE INVITED TO VOLUNTARILY PARTICIPATE in an anonymous 15 minute online survey. [Exclusion criteria include FSMs who are attempting to or are unable to conceive children]
