

Undergraduate students:

2016 Southeastern Medical Scientist Symposium

University of Alabama at Birmingham
November 5-6, 2016

SEMSS is an annual meeting started by the MD/PhD students from the University of Alabama at Birmingham, Emory University, and Vanderbilt University. It is also the Southeast Regional Meeting of the American Physician Scientist Association. The goal of the symposium is to bring together faculty, graduate students, and undergraduate students from schools around the southeastern United States to foster discussion about physician scientist career paths and research. This years SEMSS meeting will be held in conjunction with the first annual Physician Scientists Symposium, bringing added participation from residents, fellows, and young faculty who are training as physician scientists.
