

2018 DAT Study Schedule (10 weeks)

*Note: Before starting this schedule, you should first read Ari's DAT Study Guide.

Introduction

Your study schedule is going to be broken up into 2 parts. The first part will concentrate on learning the content of the DAT, where you will go over all the concepts the DAT will cover and develop your own notes. You will still be assessing yourself at this stage to ensure you are learning from your content review. We will spend approximately 5 weeks reviewing the content.

The second part revolves around practice questions and reviewing content (5 weeks). Your study day will consist of doing untimed sets of practice questions and reviewing your notes from your content review. About halfway through the second part you'll switch to timed practice to begin building your test-taking skills. At the very end of the second part you will switch to full-length practice tests to build up your test endurance and stamina, as well as evaluate whether you are ready to take the DAT or if you need to reschedule.

Part 1 of 2: Learning the Content

This is arguably the most important stage of your DAT prep. How you prepare and review here will determine if the rest of your studying will be torturous and draining, or productive and successful. Work hard and try your best to learn as much as you can, and take one day off a week to relax. Let's get started!

Materials and Resources Checklist

- DAT Bootcamp \(\$247 for all practice tests and tools\)

Study Schedule Part 1: Learning the Content Week 1, Day 1

- Join the DAT Study Group on Facebook

I recommend Cliffs AP Biology 3rd edition. I don't recommend the 4th and later editions of CliffsAP Biology; it was updated to eliminate much of the information in accordance with the new AP biology exam.

- Read Cliffs AP Biology Ch. 1 "Chemistry of Life"

Before you begin to watch General Chemistry videos, print out all the outlines, hole punch them, and place them in a binder. Include a few sheets of loose-leaf paper at the end of each section so you can take notes. Take diligent notes as you watch the videos, copy the examples, and re-watch them if you need to clarify something. Take the associated quiz after watching the videos to ensure you understand the concepts.

I recommend using Mike's DAT Videos instead of Chad's Videos to review general chemistry.

Why use Mike's Videos for the 2017 DAT?

- ✓ Learn from the best with 13 test-focused chapters tailored exactly to what you'll see on the DAT
- ✓ 200+ organic chemistry quiz questions with video solutions
- ✓ 140+ HD general chemistry lecture videos for the 2017 DAT
- ✓ Included in your DAT Bootcamp subscription

- Watch Mike's GC Videos 1.1-1.3 in Ch. 1 "Stoichiometry"

- Take the associated quizzes at the end of the videos

Or:

- Watch Chad's GC videos 1.1, 1.2, 1.3

*Mike's GC Videos Ch. 0 "General and Lab Concepts" is an optional review for students who need help with basic general chemistry concepts. Watch these videos first if you have not taken general chemistry in a while.

Study Schedule Part 2: Finally Practicing What We've Learned! Week 5, Day 29

- Take Math Destroyer Test 1 untimed

- Take DAT Bootcamp General Chemistry Test 6
  - Note: DAT Bootcamp Tests 1-5 questions are sourced from the full-length practice tests. Previously in my DAT Study Schedule, I recommended going through all of the DAT Bootcamp practice tests at least twice for review. I updated the study schedule to say that instead of going through the main practice tests again for the 2nd time, you'll be going through the full-length simulation practice tests. This will help you get comfortable with the timing on test day and the overall format of the DAT. Remember, it's not the number of questions you answer that will improve your score, but your thorough review and understanding of the questions/explanations that will improve your score.
  - Optional: If you'd like to use the DAT Bootcamp full-length exams without having seen them before, I'd recommend using DAT Bootcamp Tests 6-10 as your source for individual DAT practice tests. Go through those individual practice tests, replacing the individual DAT Bootcamp practice tests 1-5 in the study schedule, and then take the DAT Bootcamp full-length exams 1-5 at the end.

**Read and follow this post about how to use DAT practice problems:
<https://datbootcamp.com/blog/how-to-study-effectively-using-dat-practice-tests/>

**Read this post to understand how to improve your estimated DAT score:
<https://datbootcamp.com/blog/how-to-improve-your-estimated-dat-score/>

Week 5, Day 29 (continued)

- Do DAT Destroyer General Chemistry problems: 1-24
  - Note: Newer editions of DAT Destroyer have more questions in them in the back of each section. The study schedule will not cover all of the questions since there are too many for it to be an effective use of your time. If you use a newer edition, feel free to do the extra questions left out of the study schedule for extra practice if you like.

DAT Destroyer and especially Math Destroyer are much harder than the real DAT. You may only get 50% of the problems right your first time through, this is OK. If you're running out of time in your study schedule, you can skip the biology section of DAT Destroyer, but I still recommend it for practice.

Take DAT Bootcamp Full Length Test 1
<http://datbootcamp.com/classroom/full-length/>

*Note these questions are sourced from the question bank of the main practice tests 1-5. Previously in my DAT Study Schedule, I recommended going through all of the DAT Bootcamp practice tests at least twice for review. I updated the study schedule to say that instead of going through the main practice tests again for the 2nd time, you'll be going through the full-length simulation practice tests. This will help you get comfortable with the timing on test day and the overall format of the DAT. Remember, the number of questions you answer will not improve your score, but your thorough review and understanding of the explanations will improve your score.

Thoroughly review all the solutions and answers. Review all the questions you either marked or missed with your notes (most important), Chad's videos, CliffsAP Biology, Wikipedia, Khan Academy, and YouTube videos. Be sure to follow this blog post when completing DAT practice questions: <http://datbootcamp.com/blog/how-to-study-effectively-using-dat-practice-tests/>
